All students are offered the option of recognition of prior experience or study for any competencies in which they believe they are already competent.

Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL) is the acknowledgment of current skills and knowledge which have been gained from a range of experiences including study, work, volunteering, and general life experiences. It is achieved through the assessment of evidence you provide against a set of criteria in a qualification.

Recognition of Current Competency (RCC) applies if a learner has successfully completed the requirements for a unit of competency or module previously and is now required, (e.g. by a licensing authority), to be reassessed to ensure that the competency is being maintained. In this case no extra skill or competencies are nationally recognised.

Credit Transfer is the formal recognition that elements of some courses are equal in content and level to parts of others.

If you wish to seek RPL, RCC or Credit Transfer, you will be directed across to our partnering RTO who have formal arrangements in place.

They will require evidence of existing knowledge and skills, in addition to formal application processes. Fees may apply.

Further details about these processes can be found on their website: www.apstraining.com.au

If a participant is considered Not Yet Competent, they will be given an additional attempt to become competent. Should the participant not be deemed Competent after this further attempt, they will need to repeat the training course at their own expense if they wish to pursue competency.

Participants have the right to appeal against assessment decisions.

For further information on the appeal process please see our Complaints and Appeals policy which is available on our website.

Course Fees, Payments, Cancellations and Refunds:

RTCSA offer 'fee-for-service' training. The amount and type of fees and charges payable will depend upon a number of instances, including, but not limited to: the qualification or unit of competency being undertaken; the location of training and the duration of the training.

Participants are informed prior to enrolment of the total fee for the course, the amount and due date of any deposit should it be required, and any additional costs that may apply.

Regional Training Contractors of South Australia require all training fees to be paid prior to course commencement, with the exception of nationally recognised training when the fee for an individual's training is greater than $1,500. In this instance, when fees remain owing, the remaining fees are invoiced to the learner at the completion of the course, prior to the issuing of certification documentation.

Payment of Fees:

The following payment methods are accepted: Cash, credit card, bank cheque, money order, electronic fund transfer.

Cancellations and Refunds:

Short courses - If a participant does not attend on the day of the course, arrives more than 15 minutes late for the course, or withdraws from a course after the course has commenced, this will be classified as a non-attendance and the participant is not eligible for a refund.

If a client is unable to attend the course on which they are booked, a minimum of five business days written notice is required to obtain a full refund, (less a $35 admin fee), or to transfer the booking.

Bookings cancelled or transferred less than five business days, but prior to two business days, before course commencement, will receive a refund of monies (less a $35 administration fee; and in the case of on-site bookings – less any expenses incurred to the point of cancellation, including any assessor and resource costs – pre-booked accommodation and pre-paid materials).

Bookings cancelled less than two days prior to course commencement are not eligible for a refund.

We are aware that at times an organisation may need to substitute learners based on staff availability. Please be advised that whilst we will endeavour to accommodate this, some pre-requisites may apply for our accredited training – this can include pre-reading material which assists the participant to successfully complete the course or training. Should an organisation be required to alternate staff they will also need to ensure that substituted participants receive the necessary pre-learning materials prior to commencement of training.

Course cancellations must be in writing and emailed to: courses@rtcsa.training.

Where a refund is determined to be payable, the refund amount, less any applicable administration fees, will be calculated and the refund processed within 15 business days from the formal notification of cancellation.

Refunds can only be paid to the person or body from whom the original payment was received. RTCSA may cancel a course due to the following reasons, (where this occurs the client will receive a full refund or be given the opportunity to transfer to the next available course):

- Insufficient class numbers;
- poor weather conditions rendering the training environment unsafe;
- unavailability of trainers;
- the training venue becoming unavailable for any reason.

Further information regarding our Fees, Cancellations and Refunds can be found on our website.

Health and Safety:

RTCSA are committed to support the health, safety and welfare of participants and staff by complying with all relevant work health and safety legislation. Participants also have a legal duty to take care and protect their own health and safety and to avoid adversely affecting the health and safety of others.
